

RICH CELENZA

Innovator, Social Media Influencer,
Author, Film Director, Consultant

Key Focus: How to Succeed in Finding the Woman of Your Dreams

Rich Celenza was born into the fashion / nightclub / entertainment industry. His family, originally from Vasto, Italy, can claim almost a century in the production and designing of high quality clothing. When he wasn't learning about the garment industry at first hand in his family's factory in Chicago, Rich was practically growing up in his father's club/restaurant. From an early age he was completely at home helping to book talent and organize events.

Rich decided to go into modeling, eventually becoming someone who helped advise models on their careers, and soon made his way into acting, as well as writing, directing and producing a number of well-received short and feature length films and commercials. Encountering more and more people who needed practical professional advice in the fashion and entertainment industry, he decided to open his own consulting firm.

Eventually Rich realized that what a lot of his male clients were really after was advice on how to style themselves and network with women – they wanted to be around exceptionally beautiful women with the hopes of one day being in a relationship with one. They encouraged Rich to write a book and this turned into “Wing Man” (www.TheWingManTheBook.com), which followed the success of his earlier book, the “Model Bible” (www.TheModelBible.com). Both books have received a lot of attention and positive feedback.

When it's a matter of attracting desirable women, Rich can discuss anything from the practical to the tactical, starting with all the more superficial aspects of keeping up appearances: clothes, grooming, diet and fitness. He has dozens of tips on where to meet and how to behave around women, moves aimed at attracting beautiful and intelligent women, and perhaps some cautionary advice too!

All this is drawn from his extensive experience of having had the good fortune to be surrounded by glamorous women all his life, and is based on his liking and respect for women, and his talent for communicating with them. As a result of recently being featured in a number of publications and podcasts, Rich has realized that his main strengths and interests revolve around drawing on his skills and experience to appear in person, as a speaker or member of a discussion panel, or to offer his services as a consultant. Rich was also featured in the book “Passionate About Their Work: 151 Celebrities, Artists, and Experts on Creativity” by Leslie Halpern.

Some Suggested Topics

- The importance of confidence
- How to stand out and be unique
- Top Places to meet women
- Deciding on the woman you want
- Top do's and don't on a first date
- How to deal with rejection
- Learning how to be a better communicator

“
Rich Celenza is the most driven person that I ever encountered. Regardless of the setting, he possesses an innate ability to bring people from all backgrounds together to truly become a team that works toward a common goal. His loyalty, integrity, and altruism are unmatched and are the reasons why people gravitate toward him and perform their best when working with him.

Kevin Kachin PhD / Creator of Limitless Brain

Connect with Rich

-  www.RichCelenza.com
-  Rich@RichCelenza.com
-  424-230-2639
-  @richcelenza
-  in/richcelenza
-  /rich.celenza